7 Star Staffers Attend 98th Convention Arkansas Press Ass'n

Seven from The Star spent Friday and Saturday at Hot Springs' Arlington Hotel attending the 98th annual mid-winter convention of the Arkansas Press Association.

The delegation comprised your editor and Gene Allen, camera chief; Donal Parker, advertising manager, and Mrs. Parker; C. M. (Pod) Rogers, Jr., circulation manager, and Mrs. Rogers; and Miss Virginia Hiscott, classified advertising manager.

We are revolving this two-day holiday, scheduling one group for the mid-winter meeting, always held in January; and another group for the summer convention, about June 1, and to be held this year at Fayetteville instead of Hot Springs.

There were certain features about the winter program I would have handled differently. One morning was given over to the offset and cold type printing process—when as a matter of fact about half of all Arkansas newspapers are already using the offset system, many, like The Star (1965-66)—therefore it was a pretty old story.

Personally I would have chosen two other topics:

1. Discussion of process color which is just around the corner for modern, well-equipped newspapers, both weeklies and dailies.

2. A program noting that for the first time in journalistic history the small and medium-size newspapers are leading the big-city press in mechanical progress. Arkansas Gazette, for instance, once was the best-printed paper in the state, but the Gazette announced only last October it was switching to cold type as an alternative to Linotype or Intertype hot-metal composing machines—a switch The Star made in June 1966.

Ten years ago the Linotype was the dominant typesetter, and Mergenthaler stock was extremely valuable. But now Mergenthaler has quit making Linotypes entirely, except on individual special orders—for the largest newspapers—and second-hand Linotypes are worthless in the market. Five years ago The Star struck early and realized $25,000 net from its old letterpress plant. Today the market for such outmoded equipment is zero.

Coming home from Hot Springs Saturday afternoon Gene Allen and I visited the overlook station on Arkadelphia's new DeGray dam and reservoir. The lake at one time was nearly full, but then was drawn down to remove part of the timber that had been left standing.

Since then it has started to refill, but Gene and I estimated it lacks 50 feet of being full today, and it will be late Spring before safe boating and fishing will be possible.

We'll keep you advised on later Corps of Engineers reports on DeGray.

Cossatot Flood Victims for Gillham Dam

DE QUEEN, Ark. (AP) — A group called Cossatot Flood Victims was organized here Sunday night to aid in the fight for construction of the Gillham Dam on the Cossatot River.

About 50 landowners along the river and below the site of the proposed dam attended the meeting and selected Garnet Norwood as the organization's attorney. Norwood said today he would go to Little Rock Tuesday to file a petition asking the court to permit the organization to intervene in a Feb. 8 hearing on the dam.

U.S. District Court Judge G. Thomas Eisele granted an injunction late last year temporarily enjoining work on the construction of the dam across the Cossatot. The Feb. 8 hearing is to determine whether the Army Engineer project should be permanently enjoined.

Revision Plan Concerns Educators

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Members of the state Board of Education voiced concern Sunday that the commissioner of education would be appointed by the governor under Gov. Dale Bumpers' plan for reorganization of state government.

The board met Sunday in Little Rock to discuss the reorganization bill, which has been introduced in the legislature. Education Commissioner A. W. Ford pointed out, however, that the meeting was not to organize opposition to the bill.

Bumpers had been invited to attend the meeting, but sent state Sen. Ben Allen of Little Rock as his representative.

Board member Jim Dupree of Weldon told Allen that he was afraid that education would be subjected to the "whims" and "caprices" of politics under the new system of state government.

He said that the reorganization of the department, which would put the education commissioner under the appointment of the governor, would make it impossible to make any long-range plans for education. Dupree said he did not doubt the motives of Bumpers, but he questioned what would happen in the future with other governors.

He said that education should be isolated from politics and should be left in the realm of professional people, trained in education.

Ford questioned whether a governor would want to be held responsible for certain things that the commissioner of education might do, such as in the area of civil rights.

He said in the past he has had the support of former Govs. Winthrop Rockefeller and Orval E. Faubus, but he was the one that was held responsible for decisions that were made.

The board also questioned the reasoning behind transferring several areas out of the department, such as the Surplus Property Program, Veterans Programs, Rehabilitation Services and the Division of Rehabilitation Services for the blind.

Allen asked the board to try the reorganization plan for two years and if it did not work changes could be made in the next legislative session.

The bill, which has been referred to as the "cabinet plan," would make a few men responsible for the more than 175 state agencies, boards and commissions.

Four Persons Are Killed on Highways

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
An Associated Press count showed that four persons were killed in traffic accidents on streets and highways in Arkansas during the 54-hour weekend period. All of the victims died in separate accidents.

The weekend period began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended Sunday at midnight.

The victims were: —Billy Ray Wiley, 20, of near Vilonia who was killed early Sunday in a two-car accident on Arkansas 287 near Holland (Faulkner County).

—Mona Lee Head, 16, of near Malvern who was killed Saturday night in a two-car accident on Arkansas 51 near Malvern.

—Elizabeth Lindsey, 64, of Little Rock who was killed Friday night in a two-car accident in Little Rock.

Kaiser Follows Other Steel Makers, Hikes Prices 6.8 Per Cent

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP) — Bethlehem Steel Corp. said today it is rolling back its price increases on steel used in the construction industry.

A statement from the nation's second largest steelmaker said it was reducing prices in order to be competitive with other producers.

Bethlehem announced the price increases last Monday. The increases of up to 2.5 per cent, had been attacked by the Nixon administration.

Mandate in Embezzlement Case Upheld

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court denied today a motion to stay its mandate upholding the embezzlement conviction of former City Collector John H. Pointer Jr. of Pine Bluff, but another motion to stay was filed immediately.

Pointer's attorney, Kenneth C. Coffelt of Jacksonville, said in the new motion that denial of the first motion violated Pointer's rights by denying him due process guaranteed under the federal Constitution.

Coffelt's new petition said that the state had filed no response to the first motion and had made none in oral arguments. Since Jefferson County

City Police Investigate Many Wrecks

A rash of wrecks plagued Hope City Police during the weekend. Starting on Friday on Hervey Street autos driven by Neena A. Harris and Suzanne Iudicello of Pennsylvania collided with considerable damage resulting. City Officer Purtle charged the Pennsylvania driver with failure to yield the right-of-way.

Autos driven by Tommy Holt and Alvin Hamilton collided at 14th and Walker with minor damage resulting. City Officer Ward investigated.

City Officers Haltom and Ward said that a parked car owned by Virginia Smith was hit by another driven by Paul Lewis. Mr. Lewis told officers he didn't know he had hit the parked vehicle. There was slight damage and Lewis was charged with unattention while driving.

There was minor damage at Hamilton and 7th St. when autos driven by Anna M. McBroom, and Lois Purtle collided. Officer Neal investigated.

Cars driven by Leona Cole and Emma G. Bolt collided at Second and Hazel Streets with minor damage resulting. Officers Ward and Neal investigated.

Vehicles driven by Paul Hanson and Wilson Ragland collided on North Hazel with very heavy damage resulting. Officers Ward and McCulley charged Hanson with failure to yield the right-of-way.

At Hazel and West Avenue A an auto driven by Tom Lee Brint collided with another driven by Clifton Booth and the Booth car was knocked into a stopped car owned by Richard R. Brawley of Paragould. The Brint car appeared to be a total loss and the other two were heavily damaged. City Officer John Shirley charged Brint with failure to stop at a stop sign.

Saturday on Third Street an auto driven by Jack L. Spates rammed the rear of a vehicle driven by D. Spain of Ft. Worth, Texas. There was considerable damage. Spates was charged with unattention by Officer James Purtle.

Sunday an auto driven by James L. Powell left the street in the 1004 block of South Main, tore up some sidewalk and completely demolished a 1970 Buick auto. Officer James Rowe investigated.

In making the announcement Sunday, Kaiser said the boosts were necessary because of rising costs and unsatisfactory earnings. U.S. Steel cited the same reasons in announcing its.

The Bethlehem announcement brought a White House threat to lower quotas on steel imported from foreign countries.

Despite the fact that several smaller companies indicated they would follow Bethlehem's new rate schedule, the company may make a decision today whether it will slash its hikes to the level announced by U.S. Steel and Kaiser.

A Bethlehem spokesman had no comment Sunday but said a statement would be made today if a decision was made.

The Chicago-based Inland Steel Co., seventh leading firm in structural production, made no new rate announcement and offered no further comment. Inland has been involved in previous controversies surrounding rate increases.

Steel prices are expected to be the topic discussed at a meeting today of President Nixon's cabinet committee on economic policy.

The White House reaction to U.S. Steel's announcement was markedly different from the statements issued after Bethlehem, pleading low profits, announced its boosts.

"The White House is gratified that this increase is substantially less than the increase announced earlier and we are gratified by the recognition of the inflationary problem," said Gerald L. Warren, deputy press secretary to the President.

U.S. Steel said Sunday its chairman and chief executive officer, Edwin H. Gott, told the administration of the hike before it was announced.

Russia to Replace Egypt War Losses

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Soviet President Nikolai Podgorny has pledged that the Soviet Union will replace Egypt's "material losses" in another war with Israel and also will improve living conditions in the Arab nation.

Podgorny told a cheering crowd of 5,000 shipyard workers in Alexandria Sunday that his country would "bear any material losses to help Egypt repulse Israel."

"We will furnish you with experts and money to enable you to achieve your aims in all fields," he said.

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat replied that Egypt "will be a faithful friend because we can never forget your help in times of difficulty and darkness."

The two leaders took a special train from Cairo to the Mediterranean port. Along the way, enthusiastic crowds welcomed Podgorny who came to Egypt for the dedication of the Aswan High dam last week.

Podgorny and Sadat, making his first visit to Egypt's second largest city since he became president, spoke near what appeared to be two huge oil tankers. Soviet engineers are helping the Egyptians to build. Speeches of both men were interrupted by the crowd chanting: "Long live Soviet-Egyptian friendship! We will fight! We will fight!"

Sadat again expressed gratitude for the Soviet decision announced during Podgorny's visit to assist in village electrification. The semi-official newspaper Al Ahran said Sunday the project will cost more than $270 million. It said the Soviet Union will provide all the equipment and technical know-how and will also help in reclaiming 300,000 acres of land.

Meanwhile new wrangling was heard among the Palestinian guerrillas, with Yasser Arafat's Al Fatah, the biggest guerrilla group, threatening to use armed force against leftist rivals calling for the overthrow of Jordan's King Hussein.

Congress Returns to Unfinished Business and Leadership Fight

By EDMOND LeBRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 92nd Congress comes to Washington this week to face desks cluttered with work left unfinished by the 91st—and leadership battles in both parties.

Welfare reform, Social Security increase, the draft versus a volunteer Army, the fight over the supersonic transport—these are only some of the more urgent items of business.

Further down the road are trade legislation, with the possibility of limits on imports, tightening the laws on campaign spending and disclosure of contributions, national health insurance plans, direct election of the president—and, perhaps, Nixon's prime project, sharing federal revenues with the states.

The lawmakers convene Thursday and Nixon outlines his legislative program in a State of the Union address Friday.

But the action begins Tuesday, when Democratic members of the House meet to settle the hottest fight in a generation for the post of majority leader. The final vote, expected to match Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana and Rep. Morris K. Udall of Arizona, may not come until Wednesday.

Proposals to modify the venerable seniority system for choosing powerful committee chairmen also must be handled by the Democratic caucus.

It will designate Carl Albert of Oklahoma speaker, succeeding the retired John W. McCormack of Massachusetts.

However, Rep. John Conyers, D-Mich., has announced he will challenge for the speakership. Conyers says Albert has failed to back plans to deny seniority to five Mississippi congressmen that some Northern liberals maintain were not duly elected as Democrats.

Conyers' bid for the speaker post was seen as symbolic of the liberal assault on senior conservative Democrats.

Republicans meet Wednesday. On their agenda is a challenge to Rep. John B. Anderson of Illinois, chairman of the Republican conference, by Rep. Samuel L. Devine of Ohio. Anderson is favored to retain the post, third in the Republican leadership structure.

In the Senate, where the parties caucus Thursday, Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., of Tennessee may challenge Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania for the Republican leadership and Sen. Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia may try to unseat Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts as Democratic whip.

A bill combining a Social Security increase and welfare reform along the lines of Nixon's family assistance plan is slated to be the first introduced in the House, when the members settle down to the business of passing laws.

Nixon Envoy Seeks Oil Settlement

By PARVIS RAEIN
Associated Press Writer

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Iran's premier welcomed the arrival of President Nixon's special oil envoy Sunday but said foreign pressure would not modify the demands by 10 major oil producing nations for more revenue.

Premier Amir Abass Hoveida said his ministers would be pleased to meet with Undersecretary of State John N. Irwin, who arrived Sunday from Washington. But Hoveida added that Iran will not allow "any foreign power to interfere in its affairs," and new royalty and tax rates "must be fixed outside and away from political crisis and to the benefit of the producers."

Iran is the world's fourth largest producer of petroleum and the leading Middle Eastern spokesman for the 10-nation Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, made up of the Middle East oil countries, Algeria, Libya, Venezuela and Indonesia. Together they account for almost 60 per cent of the oil production outside Communist nations.

Nixon sent Irwin to meet with officials in Iran, Kuwait and Saudi Arabia in an attempt to resolve the standoff that developed last week between the OPEC and the western oil companies who operate the wells and refineries in the 10 nations.

The nations are demanding increased royalties and taxes on their oil, and accused the companies of refusing to negotiate. The companies announced Saturday they are sending another delegation to Tehran Tuesday with proposals, reportedly for a five-year price agreement with a sliding scale of annual increases.

The oil ministers of Kuwait and Saudi Arabia arrived in Tehran Sunday, less than an hour ahead of the American diplomat, for preliminary discussions.

The three nations will present the companies' new offer to an OPEC general conference Saturday. The other member nations are Iraq, Abu Dhabi and Qatar.

Unless agreement is reached, the possibility exists that the organization would cut off production, severely handicapping Western Europe and Japan.

The Nixon administration was expected to avoid diplomatic pressure on the three governments Irwin is visiting, all of which belong to the more conservative wing of OPEC. Irwin was expected instead to emphasize that sizable price increases in oil to consuming nations could shove up prices of products that the oil producing nations import.

Hoveida said producer countries receive $1 for each barrel of oil while the companies and their governments get $13. A recent $1 a barrel price hike in several consuming countries will produce just 10 cents a barrel more for the producer countries, he said.

The Western oil companies include Standard Oil of New Jersey, Standard Oil of California, Gulf, Texaco, Mobil, British Petroleum, Royal Dutch Shell and Compagnie Francaise des Petroles.

This City which averaged almost one wreck a day during 1970 is well ahead of that mark so far this year... through Sunday 20 accidents have been investigated inside the city limits... the weekend report also shows three arrested for traffic violations, one for liquor violation... five persons were charged with driving while intoxicated... one charged with giving an overdraft and eight accidents were investigated.

Police said the fire was set during a burglary attempt at the school, either by accident or to cover up the burglary.

Students at the school are attending classes in another building on the campus.

Another Big Bank Lowers Interest Rate

NEW YORK (AP) — Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. reduced its prime lending rate to 8 per cent today. Major banks had cut the rate to 6 1/2 from 6 3/4 per cent last Friday.

The prime rate is the interest charged by commercial banks on loans to their biggest corporate borrowers. It has an ultimate effect on mortgage and personal loans.

If Morgan Guaranty's move becomes general, it would be the third time the prime rate has fallen this month.

Morgan Guaranty is the nation's fifth largest bank. A spokesman for the bank said it had no comment on the reduction.

The reduction on Friday was initiated by First National City Bank of New York and was quickly followed by other major banks throughout the country.

The slide by this rate has been a reflection of a slowing demand for loans and a growing availability of banks' lending funds, financial observers say.

The prime rate had soared to an all-time high of 8 1/2 per cent on June 9, 1969, when the money supply was at its tightest.

Morgan Guaranty's move was quickly followed by Commerce Union Bank of Nashville, Tenn.

Foreign Dept. Set Up by Union Bank

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Adrian Williamson Jr. has been named the vice president in charge of international banking at Union National Bank in Little Rock, it was announced Saturday.

Williamson said Friday that he was resigning as the executive director of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission to take a job in the private business sector.

Williamson said his resignation had nothing to do with the administration of Gov. Dale Bumpers, who had asked him to remain on the job "indefinitely." Bumpers says he does not know who he will name to the position.

Williamson, a native of Monticello, joined the AIDC in September 1969, when he replaced Robert Millwee. Prior to that, he was a vice president with Commercial National Bank in Little Rock.

Mills Denies Interest in Nomination

KENSETT, Ark. (AP) — Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., denied Sunday that he was being considered for the presidency.

Rep. Bill Alexander, D-Ark., has said last week during an interview with a radio station that Mills "has developed such a national reputation that he is being considered as a possible candidate for the Democratic nomination for the presidency of the U.S."

Mills said he did not know where Alexander got his statement, but speculated he probably made the statement out of "gratitude" for the things Mills had done for Alexander.

Mills, the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, said he has not considered the possibility of running for the office.

Kidnap Terror Ends in South Carolina

BENNETTSVILLE, S.C. (AP) — "We're going to get all the rich people, every damned one of 'em, and then they're going to have to deal with us."

Wayne Chavis, one of eight persons abducted in this little town in northern South Carolina's rich tobacco belt, says the terror began Saturday night with this declaration by one of their kidnapers.

Two Negro men carrying guns and black militant literature made their way from house to house gathering up victims and forcing them into the Chavis family's Volkswagen bus.

The escapade ended at the home of the third family with an exchange of gunfire.

One of the kidnaped women, the wife of state Sen. John Lindsay, was critically wounded, as was one of the abductors.

Two men were arrested.

The abductions began at the home of Chavis, a Bennettsville barber. Dina Chavis, 13, answered a knock at the door and was met by two men with guns.

Chavis said one of the men commanded, "Don't nobody move, or we'll blow your head off."

After the kidnapers took a pistol and $12 from Chavis they herded all six members of the family into the minibus and tied them up. In addition to Dina, the Chavises have three other children — Don, 10, and daughters Suzanne, 9, and Dawn, 5.

The kidnapers then drove to the home of Sen. Lindsay.

Mrs. Lindsay answered the door, and one of the men demanded to see her husband. Lindsay was absent, in Columbia on business.

Mrs. Lindsay was knocked to the ground and with her 6-year-old son, David, forced into the minibus with the Chavis family.

The bus next stopped at the home of state Rep. T. E. Cottingham. No one was home there.

Mrs. Lindsay was forced to accompany the two men to the house next door, the home of former state Rep. James F. Lee.

Mrs. Lee answered the door and the men forced their way in.

Lee and his 10-year-old daughter were watching television in the basement and the men went down there.

According to Lindsay, who talked with the abduction victims later, Lee struck one of the kidnapers and ran to a room where he kept a loaded pistol.

In the shooting that followed, Mrs. Lindsay was hit in the throat, arm and a leg and one of the abductors was struck in the throat and chest and collapsed in front of the house. The other man fled on foot.

Police found Charles Leonard Scales, 22, of Bennettsville wounded at the Lee home. Grover Bennett, 23, of Charlotte, turned himself in to police in Columbia Sunday night.

Both were charged with kidnaping, robbery, burglary and assault and battery with intent to kill.

School District said Sunday that they will continue to operate as usual despite court orders to have total integration by the start of the second semester which began today.

John Norman Warnock, attorney for the district, said Sunday that a request to stay the order of U.S. District Judge Oren Harris issued Nov. 11 to unify the schools had been mailed to the 8th District U.S. Court of Appeals at St. Louis.

Prosecutors Think WR Abused Power

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The members of the Arkansas Prosecuting Attorneys Association adopted a resolution at their meeting here Saturday opposing Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's commutation of the death sentences of 15 Tucker Prison Farm inmates.

The resolution said: "While executive clemency serves as a useful function in correcting injustices, we feel the recent wholesale application in capital cases is an abuse of power."

Atty. Gen. Ray Thornton said he believed Rockefeller was sincere, but that each case should have been reviewed on its own merits rather than making a "blanket commutation."

Bald Eagle, Mate Parted by Shooter

POINT PEELEE NATIONAL PARK, Ont. (AP) — A bullet has separated one of the last pairs of bald eagles in Ontario.

The wounded bird was found lying helplessly with one wing shattered and paralyzed on Pelee Island, in Lake Erie about 40 miles southeast of Windsor.

The shooting is believed to have occurred sometime in November.

The bird was flown to the mainland in a chartered plane. Its injured wing had to be amputated.

Cliff Drysdale, acting chief naturalist of the area, said "It is thought this bird was able to live since being shot because its mate brought it food on the ground."

He said bald eagles mate for life, but they breed only in the air. With an amputated wing, the wounded bird will never fly nor mate again.

"This eagle is one of a pair that are among the few successful breeders in Central North America," Drysdale said.

The problem now facing the naturalist is whether to capture the mate on the island and unite it with the injured eagle or transport it to another family of bald eagles.

The 17th parallel divides North and South Vietnam.

MANDATE

(From Page One)

Circuit Court, rather than the state Supreme Court, must hear the evidence surrounding the motion, the high court's refusal to stay its mandate blocked due process for Pointer, Coffelt said in the motion.

Last Monday, the high court heard oral arguments on the motion to stay.

Pointer is seeking a new trial on a conviction of embezzling $32,473 in Pine Bluff city funds. He was sentenced to five years in prison.

The state Supreme Court upheld Pointer's conviction earlier this year, but Pointer has been free on bond while the case went to the U.S. Supreme Court, which refused to hear the case, and the state Supreme Court was about to issue a mandate that would have required Pointer to begin serving his prison sentence when the stay motion was filed.

In another case, the Supreme Court upheld the manslaughter conviction of Clarence McPeace and Mattie Carter of North Little Rock in the fatal shooting of Charles Thomas Smith. The defendants had contended the evidence was insufficient to support the conviction. The high court, in an opinion by Associate Justice Frank Holt, held, however, "Indeed, the evidence in the case at bar would have supported a conviction of a higher degree of homicide."

The defendants were convicted in a nonjury trial before Pulaski County Circuit Court Judge William J. Kirby.

The Supreme Court reversed Lee County Probate Court in its finding that Bethel Cole was entitled to a widow's interest in the estate of Joe Cole Jr., who died May 11, 1968. The Coles participated in a marriage ceremony on July 23, 1962 in Lee County. The Supreme Court ruled, however, that there was not sufficient evidence that the woman had ever been divorced from Jesse Ratliff, whom she married Sept. 11, 1948, also in Lee County.

In another case, the high court held that Thomas W. Armstrong of Little Rock had no right to interfere with the use by Leo Juanita McCrary of a driveway between their homes.

The driveway juts off near the contestants' garages permitting the McCrarys to get to their garage by using the driveway

Testimony in Calley Case Continues

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL

Associated Press Writer

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — William Calley Jr. testified at his court-martial today, but not about the mind of the lieutenant. If they discuss him at all, the two-month-old My Lai murder trial may be recessed for weeks.

The prosecution, which has not given Calley a mental examination, has demanded that Army psychiatrists have the opportunity to do so should defense experts bring in anything that bears on Calley's ability to form the intent to kill My Lai villagers.

east of the Laotian border, the American command said.

Air Force F105 Wild Weas fighter-bombers fired three Shrike missiles at the two sites, but the command said the results were not known.

The fighter-bombers were flying cover for U.S. B52s bombing the Ho Chi Minh trail through Laos. The U.S. Command said the pilots detected from their special equipment that North Vietnamese radar had locked onto the American flight in preparation for firing, constituting an imminent threat against which the U.S. pilots took "protective reaction."

U.S. planes have made more than 70 attacks in North Vietnam since President Johnson halted the bombing of the north on Nov. 1, 1968. There have been eight in the past 10 days. Such attacks originally were confined to anti-aircraft guns and missile sites that fired on U.S. reconnaissance planes over North Vietnam, but the Nixon Administration has broadened application of "protective reaction" to include threats against U.S. bombers attacking enemy supply routes on the Laotian side of the border.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Television has come a long way since the days when Marlin Perkins used to stroll around Chicago's Lincoln Park Zoo, petting the animals and urging children at home to handle their own pets gently.
It has become a loud and powerful ally in the conservation movement, calling attention dramatically to disappearing or endangered species and explaining in concrete and easily understood sequences the weaknesses and breaks in the vital ecological chain.
Over the weekend there were two such programs. On Friday night "Elephant Country" on NBC reported on the dwindling herds of Africa. On Saturday, "Arthur Godfrey's America: the Everglades" on ABC was concerned with that vast Florida swamp land. Despite a difference in subject matter and the fact the locations were thousands of miles apart, there were remarkable similarities and a sense of urgency.

"Elephant Country" with actor Cliff Robertson serving as narrator and participant in a camera hunt, told of the herds decreasing because of a year-long drought in the area and of so many animals crowding into Kruger National Park that the sanctuary was unable to feed them. Man was at the heart of the crisis, draining water from rivers vital to the herds, severing one big river with a dam thus permitting only a trickle in the water holes, and deliberately burning over acres for agriculture and driving out or killing the animals.
Man was also the villain in Godfrey's special, diverting water from the swamp to other uses, seeking to cut a canal across the state, draining and developing swamp lands into building sites.
Total effect of these nature programs—Jacques Cousteau's undersea series, Bill Burrud's "Animal World" and Perkins' "Wild Kingdom"—has to be important in the awareness of viewers to the problem.

Even "The American Sportsman" has seen the light—or handwriting on the wall. It used to concentrate on the joys of the hunt and the gun. Once in a while it would explain briefly that this man-eating tiger was scaring villagers so a Hollywood star was invited to come over and shoot him. This year, the Hollywood stars are still fishing and hunting, but it is likely to be with tranquilizer bullets and with the aim of tagging the creatures rather than acquiring a head for the library wall.
The AEA's policy — making body, meeting Saturday in Little Rock, also resisted an effort to delay passage of an act in the legislature that would require school districts to have written personnel policies.
The compromise, to be urged by the AEA as the formula to be adopted by the legislature, provides for a 2.5-to-1 equalization ratio to be applied toward reducing the spread between teacher salaries in the least wealthy districts and those in the wealthy districts.
The compromise in midway between the 2-to-1 ratio favored by the AEA Legislative Committee and the 3-to-1 ratio favored by a special Senate committee.

HISTORY REPEATS, AND REPEATS, AND REPEATS
Dear Helen:
I met Marty when he was married to his first wife. Three days after he got his divorce, we married, and I was expecting his baby. His wife gave their three children up for adoption. The court wanted me to take them, but I was still a teen-ager and couldn't cope with all those kids.
We got along fine for six months. Then I found out he was running around on me. If I said anything, he beat me up, and started blaming me for his losing his first three children.
He left me just after our second daughter was born—to live with a girl who was three months pregnant, by him. That broke up, and when he came home, he was real good for a while, but then he met my cousin, and off he went again.
Next thing I heard he was in jail on a drug charge. My parents put up the bail to get him out—they had to borrow, and they've never got it back. When in jail, Marty promised me the sky if I'd just give him one more chance. The sky feel after a week, when I found him with the doper he got busted with.
Up to then I was faithful, but I decided this was dumb, so now I've found a wonderful guy. My husband knows, but still lives with me and the children. He seems to think this is a good arrangement—each of us doing what we please, but sharing a house. My new boy friend isn't in a position to marry and raise my family—he's still in school and working part time (would you believe this—in the same shop with Marty, and they're friends!).
Maybe the men are happy, but I'm not. And I'm afraid for how it will affect my daughters. Marty says he should never have got his first divorce and lost his kids, but inasmuch as I "stole" a guy once, I deserve what I'm getting now, and why should I kick? He lets me have my boy friend?
Right now the two guys in my life are out playing pool together. Where does that leave me? —NOT THAT MODERN Dear Not:
—In the big middle of a mess! I'd suggest you give both men their walking papers and start learning how to walk a straight line yourself! Which means: Get a job, concentrate on raising your daughters, and stay away from married men! —H.
Dear Helen:
The encyclopedia explanation of the word "Hoosier" is incorrect, as you stated it in a recent column.
The name derived from Samuel Hoosier, a contractor on the Ohio Falls Canal at Louisville, Kentucky, who gave employment preference to men living in Indiana. His workers were called Hoosier Men, later "Hoosiers." —LITERARY RESEARCHER

Thank you. I'll let the En-

Here's a tip for the bride who is irked because the grocery clerk doesn't remember the "specials," and charges her full price unless she watches him like a hawk.
I put all marked-down items in the part of the grocery cart that's for small children (or in the front of the cart, separated by a box or paper. I point to these and tell the clerk "Here are the specials." It helps him as well as me. —T.D.

March of Dimes Research Seeks Answers In Birth Defects Prevention

By Virginia Appar, M.D.
Vice President for Medical Affairs
The National Foundation
March of Dimes

March of Dimes grantees today are probing causes, cures and control of birth defects at major medical centers and teaching hospitals across the nation. Answers will not come rapidly enough for a time to spare some quarter of a million American infants born annually with congenital diseases. But, after centuries of neglect and indifference, the crucial news is that life-giving studies are taking place which abound with meanings for future generations.

Let me take you on a brief, cross-country sampling of these important probings:
At the University of California, San Diego, Dr. William L. Nyhan and his colleagues are exploring the diagnosis before birth of hereditary diseases. New techniques in amniocentesis and cell culture enable doctors to discover an increasing number of cytogenetic and inborn metabolic errors. Consequently, parents can learn fairly early in pregnancy whether the fetus has been affected by certain inherited conditions.

Finding Links
Dr. Nyhan and his coworkers have established a genetic counseling center and genetic disease clinic which serves the San Diego area as well as cases referred to them from all over the country. Our grant will help these specialists combine their skills and resources to form a leading center for research.
Further up the West Coast, at the San Francisco Medical Center of the University of California, Dr. Charles J. Epstein is examining the link between chromosome damage and mental retardation and physical defects. Down's syndrome and many other congenital conditions are associated with various chromosome abnormalities, but it is not known just how they interact. Dr. Epstein's search for the basic chemical differences between normal and chromosomally abnormal cells is extremely important. If he can pinpoint the nature of abnormal metabolism in the defective cells, his findings may reveal how chromosome errors lead to birth defects that affect one in every 200 newborns.

Successful Transplant
The critical problem of high risk babies born to diabetic mothers is under joint study by two eminent specialists. Dr. Wynetka Ann Reynolds of the University of Illinois College of Medicine and Dr. Ronald A. Chez of Magee-Women's Hospital in Pittsburgh, are scrutinizing the hazards of diabetic pregnancy, using monkeys as models. Infants born to diabetic mothers are prone to an extremely high mortality rate and an incidence of birth defects that is three times higher than in infants born to mothers in normal health. Also they tend to be excessively large and often die from hyaline membrane disease soon after birth.
Right in America's heartland, the first successful bone marrow transplant was conducted by March of Dimes grantee, Dr. Robert A. Good, of the University of Minnesota. He and his colleagues made medical history by transplanting bone marrow from a girl to her brother, who suffered from a congenital immunological deficiency that had proved fatal to 11 members of his family.

Foy Hammons Going IntoHall of Fame

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The 1925 season finale between Pine Bluff and Steivers High of Dayton, Ohio was Foy Hammons' finest hour as a coach.

The game was billed as a battle for the mythical national championship and Pine Bluff won 61-0 to complete a remarkable 16-0 season.

Allen Dunaway of Pine Bluff, Hammons' assistant during 1924 and 1925 (27-1) remembers the game.

"We had saved up a bunch of trick plays and all worked perfectly," he said. "The huddle play, we used twice in that game. And, we used the spread formation from which we passed and which we ran."

Dunaway says Hammons was a "fundamentally sound" coach who was a "step or two ahead of everybody else."

Hammons, who died in 1961, will be inducted into the Arkansas Hall of Fame at Hot Springs on Friday, which would have been his 77th birthday.

Hammons was completing a two-year 8-10-1 stint at Jonesboro in 1920 when he was hired by a group of Pine Bluff boosters. At the time, volunteer part-timers were guiding the Zebras' fortunes.

In 1921, Pine Bluff was 9-0-1 and the following year the Zebras were 12-0-1. Then came 9-3, 11-1 and 16-0.

"Very often in those days you would kick on first down in your own end of the field and take a chance on the other team fumbling or something," Dunaway said. "The first two times we had the ball against Steivers in our end of the field we kicked. The next time we snapped the ball to the short man and he ran about 30 yards."

"We were well keyed up for that game," Dunaway said. "You could hear a pin drop in the dressing room. It was even more so because we were a little country town playing a big town from Ohio."

Dunaway says the Zebras' main formation at the time was the "T."

"We used what we called a chicken fight where the two halfbacks faced each other and would cross behind the line of scrimmage," Dunaway said. "They would either take it or the fullback, who had lined up behind them, would take it. Or, the quarterback would keep it and run or pass."

"On defense, most of the teams were using a seven-man line with a diamond secondary," he said. "We used it, too, but a lot of times our center would hit inside and then pull out behind the line of scrimmage and meet the play."

In the game against Steivers, the Zebras used 11 players.

"We didn't play the subs that day," Dunaway said. "We didn't need them."

Hammons left Pine Bluff after the 1925 season and later coached at Ouachita, Arkansas A&M and Hope. He had a 92-43-4 record at Hope from 1934-46.

Baylor Bears Stun Texasin SWC Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Baylor Bears and Texas Tech Red Raiders go under the microscope in Southwest Conference basketball action this week.

The Bears take their running offense and pressing defense against the Texas Aggies Tuesday in hopes of keeping their hot-hand intact and improving on their SWC lead.

The Bears stung the Texas Longhorns 77-70 in Baylor's opening SWC fracas last Saturday in a key early-season showdown. The Longhorns also had been on the crest of a victory streak.

The ever-changing Tech basketball picture turned another shade last week when Coach Bob Bass resigned to become coach of the professional Miami Floridians and his assistant Gerald Myers assumed command.

The Raiders, who share the SWC lead with Baylor and Rice with 1-0 records, travel to Texas Christian Tuesday night to face the Eugene Kennedy-led Horned Frogs.

It was the second personnel change for the Raiders this season. Junior college transfer Sam Sibert, who had been counted on to help the Raiders this season, was declared scholastically ineligible for the second semester and has left the Tech campus.

Southern Methodist is at defending champion Rice in the only other game scheduled Tuesday. No games are on tap tonight.

Three more SWC contests are scheduled Saturday. Baylor is at SMU, Texas is at Texas Tech and TCU is at Texas A&M.

The Rice Owls got a big scare from the Arkansas Razorbacks in their opening SWC match Saturday. Rice squeezed out a 85-82 victory in the closing seconds on guard Tom Meyer's layup. Meyer led the Owls with 28 points. Donnie Watts had 30 for the Hogs.

five, but putting on a good stalling show, the Cats coasted on in after Powell hit the last two points on free throws.

Dudley hit 36 points, while Powell nailed 11, Norton popped 10, Briggs sacked eight, and Harris layed up four. Harris hit 21 for Arkadelphia. Earlier the B-Bruins, although fighting hard, lost a 58-44 decision to the Arkadelphia B-Boys.

For the first few minutes it was tied up and then the B-Bruins took the lead, 9-8, after Roger Newton hit one from the top of the key. Five more points by Newton and one by Danny Joyce sent the Hope team into the second quarter with a 15-12 lead.

However, it immediately fell as Arkadelphia hit eight straight points to take a 23-15 lead.

Joyce hit three points and Tim White had two for the Bruins only other points before the first half ended with Hope trailing, 28-20.

In the second half Newton and Joyce quickly hit points but White had two for the Bruins only other points before the first half ended with Hope trailing, 28-20.

In the second half Newton and Joyce quickly hit points but White had two for the Bruins only other points before the first half ended with Hope trailing, 28-20.

Joyce hit the initial two points of the quarter but for the next five minutes the B-Bruins were outscored, 9-6.

Now with the Badgers leading, 56-38, Joyce hit five points in a row to trail 56-43, with a minute left. Riley Williams hit a free throw for the last point.

Newton led the scoring with 22 points and Joyce netted 12.

Tonight the Ladycats, Kittycats, and B-Bruins travel to Willisville while the Bobkittens and 8th grade host Arkadelphia.

Last Minute Kick WinsSuper Bowl

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI (AP) — For almost 59 minutes, the most elusive of Super Bowl titles ticked off anxious fingertips and slipped through desperate hands—before finally settling in the vise-like embrace of Mean Mike Curtis and the relentless Baltimore Colts.

Curtis' interception, fifth of six pass thefts in a gut-grabbing struggle replete with errors, set up a 32-yard field goal by rookie Jim O'Brien with five seconds to play Sunday that gave the Colts instant absolution in the form of a 16-13 comeback victory over the Dallas Cowboys.

"I grabbed that ball so hard I almost squeezed the air out of it," said the hard-rock middle linebacker, who picked off a deflected pass with 69 seconds remaining and a record viewing audience anticipating a sudden death windup to Super Bowl V.

"I didn't even think about running with it right away," Curtis said. "I felt maybe I should just fall on the ground so I wouldn't fumble it away."

He had just cause for concern. Fumbles had given Dallas 10 points and cost the Colts seven more.

Despite his inclination, Curtis rambled 13 yards to the Dallas 28. After two running plays gained three yards, positioned the ball squarely in front of the goal posts and consumed 60 of the remaining seconds. Earl Morrall, the Colts' 36-year-old backup quarterback, called a time out.

Morrall, scapegoat of Baltimore's humiliating 16-7 Super Bowl loss to the New York Jets two years ago but a hero Sunday in relief of battered Johnny Unitas, then spotted the ball for O'Brien. The mop-haired, 22-year-old kicker split the uprights for the winning three points before an Orange Bowl crowd of 80,055 and some 64 million television fans.

"It was so sweet," Morrall said. "I started jumping up and down and yelling, just like the kid. I'll never forget '68 and the Jets, but I'll remember this one the most."

Super Bowl III had become a recurring nightmare for Morrall, the starter in that game after capturing NFL Player of the Year honors.

The Jets blanked him for three quarters before Unitas, who had been plagued with arm trouble all season, came off the bench to direct a touchdown drive—too late to rescue the heavily-favored Colts.

This time, Dallas was the favorite after reeling off seven consecutive victories to win the NFC title in the first year of merger and realignment. And, as the Cowboys cashed in on turnovers for a 13-6 halftime lead, the Baltimore quarterbacks found their Super Bowl III roles reversed.

Unitas, flattened by George Andrie as he threw his second interception of the game, went to the sideline in the second quarter with cracked ribs.

Morrall drove the Colts to a first down at the Dallas 2, but failed to get a touchdown across just before intermission.

In the second half, Chuck Howley's interception in the end zone and Eddie Hinton's fumble through the end zone blunted two more Baltimore scoring bids—and started Morrall thinking about the tribulations of his first Super Bowl.

As it turned out, it was the tenacious Baltimore defense, given little pre-game publicity compared to Dallas' Doomsday crew, which gave Morrall his reprieve.

After Cornell Green stripped the ball from Hinton, who had caught a desperation pass from halfback Sam Havrilak on a broken flea-flicker play, Dallas quarterback Craig Morton tried to hit fullback Walt Garrison with a third-down pass.

But Baltimore's Jim Duncan tipped the ball to safety Rick Volk, who sprinted 30 yards to the Cowboys' 3. Two plays later, Tom Nowatzke, the Colts' prize free agent pickup, bulled into the end zone.

O'Brien, whose earlier extra point kick had been blocked after a deflected Unitas pass wound up in John Mackey's arms for a 75-yard touchdown play, then booted the tying conversion.

There were 7½ minutes to play. But the $15,000 per-man winners' shares appeared certain to go up for grabs in sudden death overtime when neither team could move the ball on its next series.

The Colts had beaten the New York Giants 12 years earlier in the NFL's only other sudden death championship game. And Unitas, architect of that victory, was warming up on the sidelines after having his ribs x-rayed, as the minutes ticked away.

Dallas' Dan Reeves was doing just that at the 13:51 mark when Morton's pass caromed off his outstretched hands and Curtis made the biggest interception of his life.

Curtis had come up with an earlier saver after Duncan fumbled away the second half kickoff to the Cowboys deep in Baltimore territory. With a first-and-goal from the 2, Curtis jarred the ball away from rookie Duane Thomas, who was held to 37 rushing yards, and Duncan recovered the fumble.

"That undoubtedly was the big play of the game," said deeply dejected Tom Landry, the Cowboys' coach. "If he scores, they have a lot of catching up to do."

"We did everything we could to give it to them, but we hung in when the going was tough, and in the end result that's what counts," defensive tackle Billy Ray Smith said.

Then Smith spotted O'Brien, the day's super hero, in the midst of a swarm of newsmen.

"What are you doing over there with all those guys?" he roared. "You only worked five seconds today—and you missed an extra point."

Owls Beat Off Late Rallyby Porkers

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Rice Owls beat back the rallying Arkansas Razorbacks for an 85-82 Southwest Conference basketball victory here Saturday night.

Rice guard Tom Meyer hit a layup with 15 seconds left to ice the victory. Meyer had 28 points for the Owls, who won their conference opener and raised their season mark to 9-4. Arkansas dropped to 0-3 in the league and 4-10 for the season.

Donnie Watts led an Arkansas rally late in the game and scored 30 points. The Razorbacks led at halftime, 39-37, but fell behind 66-56 halfway through the second half.

But Watts, who had to leave the game at one point with a nose injury, hit four baskets and a pair of free throws to close the gap to 83-82.

Meyer then clinched the victory with the layup shot.

Marquette Keeps Buildingto String

Shed no tears for Al McGuire. Things are looking better at Marquette.

"Fortunately, we're starting to jell," says the Warriors' dashing basketball coach.

Oh, yeah? What do you do for an encore after 25 straight victories?

As if Marquette's opponents don't have enough trouble now, the Warriors' modest miracle-man claims they're finally looking like a good team should.

You'd get no argument from New Mexico State, which lost 65-53 Saturday to the second-ranked Warriors.

"I never dreamed we'd be ranked as high as we are this year," said McGuire, pointing out that he lost four of his top six men from last year's NIT champions.

"But the ranking has given my team a feeling of pride. I keep on top of my boys and we make other teams believe we're tough. We just do our thing."

It's been some thing, all right — a dream of a season with Dean Meminger an imposing figure in Marquette's dazzling 13-0 start.

Not only is Dean "The Dream" waking up the offense, but a McGuire-coached team for the first time features a big man. He's 6-foot-11 sophomore Jim Chones, who really had to be something to crack McGuire's lineup.

"I'm just learning how to play the big man," says McGuire, whose previous teams featured gutty defense and precision ball-handling without a hovering giant. "I said I wouldn't change my style until Chones showed me. Well, he showed me."

Marquette was one of the lucky ones among Top Twenty teams Saturday, as a basketfull of others hit the check.

LaSalle beat fifth-ranked Western Kentucky 91-76; No. 18 Tennessee topped 10th-ranked Kentucky 75-71; Michigan whipped No. 11 Indiana 92-81; Temple handed unbeaten, 14th-ranked Fordham its first loss in 13 games, 67-66; No. 15 North Carolina fell to Wake Forest 96-84; Bradley stunned No. 16 Louisville 78-74 and Tulsa upended No. 19 Memphis State 90-85.

Top-ranked UCLA won its 18th straight, flooring California 94-76; No. 3 Southern California stomped Stanford 71-51; No. 4 Penn ripped Manhattan 91-68, and No. 8 Kansas routed Oklahoma City 101-77.

While Marquette's winning streak is the longest in the country, the Warriors are still light years away from San Francisco's NCAA record of 60.

McGuire, who played on New York's sidewalks, in his youth, instilled the playground philosophy of tough one-on-one basketball into Marquette when he took over the 1964. The year before, the Warriors had an embarrassing 5-21 record.

"We stop the star," McGuire promptly announced, and his defense-oriented group, indeed, did give trouble to plenty of college basketball's top scorers enroute to steadily-improving seasons and a 129-53 mark over the seven years.

Saturday's victory was a McGuire classic. Marquette slammed out a 42-26 halftime lead and held on despite some rocking from the Aggies' camp. Meminger led Marquette's well-distributed scoring with 16. Chones had 15 and rugged forward Gary Brell had 14.

Ken Durrett's 45 points helped LaSalle stun powerful Western Kentucky, which lost only its second game of the year; Henry Wilmore's 35 points led Michigan over Indiana; Temple slapped a lid on Fordham's racehorse offense with a tough zone and Charlie Davis fired in 35 points in Wake Forest's upset of North Carolina. Bradley's victory and Memphis State's loss tightened up the Missouri Valley Conference race. Memphis State is 3-1, Bradley, 5-2 and Louisville, 2-2 in the dizzy scramble.

Sidney Wicks' career-high 35 points powered UCLA over California; Southern Cal reeled off 17 points in a first-half burst to bury Stanford; Penn raced to a 15-1 lead and coasted over outmanned Manhattan and Kansas clouted Oklahoma City behind Bud Stallworth's 29th points.

Villanova, the country's No. 13 team, took two overtimes to beat Niagara 82-79 on Howard Porter's jumper with two minutes left and Utah State, No. 17, whipped Seattle for its eighth straight.

Top Money in Crosby Meet

By ERIC PREWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — "You can hear those Arnold Palmer yells all over the course," said Tom Shaw, who overcame the din of Arnie's Army and won the $135,000 Bing Crosby National Pro-Am golf tournament.

Shaw's victory Sunday ended a year-long slump and left Palmer, the game's biggest name, still looking for his first tournament victory since 1969.

The 28-year-old blond from Oregon finished with a two-under-par 70 on the 6,777-yard, par-72 Pebble Beach course, and a 72-hole total of 278. Palmer shot a 71 for 280.

Shaw began the final round with a one-stroke edge on Palmer, and as he stood on the second fairway he heard that he was one stroke behind. Palmer holed a chip shot from 40 feet for an eagle three at the second green and momentarily took the lead.

"You can't help but know what Arnie's doing. You can hear those Arnold Palmer yells all over the course," Shaw said later. "I knew he had an eagle. I just tried to blank it out of my mind."

"I almost got an eagle there, too. But I got three straight birdies. I'll take three birdies for one eagle any day."

Shaw reached the No. 2 green with his second shot and left his 20-foot putt for an eagle about five inches short.

He had birds at the third and fourth holes, also, and took the lead for keeps when Palmer three-putted for a bogey four at No. 5.

"I felt like things were going pretty much my way until then," Palmer said later, and added, "Second — it seems to be the story of my life in recent years."

Third place Sunday went to Bob Murphy, who closed with a 69 for a 282 total. Jerry Heard with a 67, Tom Weiskopf, with a 72, and Howie Johnson, who shot 74, tied for third at 284.

Shaw won $27,000 for his victory and added $1,250 for a fifth place finish, with partner Edward Crowley of Los Angeles, in the pro-am competition won by Lou Graham and the Rev. John Durkin of Scott Air Force Base, Ill.

Last year, Shaw totaled only $34,004 in winnings, after a $83,000 bonanza in 1969. Because he failed to make the top 60 in the money-winning list and didn't win a tournament, he lost his non-exempt player status.

"I was a rabbit for two weeks," he laughed Sunday after the title that automatically qualifies him for all other 1971 tournaments.

The 30th Crosby was blessed with its best weather ever, including a record high temperature of 78 Sunday. And, with just a light breeze blowing on the ocean-side course, golfers had nothing but themselves to blame for stray shots.

"They call me a lot of things — rookie, flaky, et cetera," said O'Brien, clutching the game ball in the Colts' happy dressing quarters.

Late Sunday, all the things they called O'Brien were nice things.

Hero Shouts Keep Those Clippers Away

By HUBERT MIZELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
MIAMI (AP) — Long hair was always Samson's salvation and the Baltimore Colts' rookie hero wasn't about to let balding, old Billy Ray Smith become his Super Bowl Delilah.

"Keep those clippers away, Billy Ray," shouted Jim O'Brien. "I may never cut this mop again."

The 22-year-old Cincinnati Kid pumped a pressurized field goal through the Orange Bowl goalposts with five seconds left Sunday to crush the hopes of the Dallas Cowboys 16-13 in Super Bowl V.

"Coach Johnny Sandusky calls me Lassie because of my hair," admitted O'Brien. "And Billy Ray, that tough old pro, said he'd cut it if we won."

Since it was the third-round draftee from the University of Cincinnati who won the game, he hoped to "ask for amnesty" from retiring defensive tackle Smith.

"They call me a lot of things — rookie, flaky, et cetera," said O'Brien, clutching the game ball in the Colts' happy dressing quarters.

Late Sunday, all the things they called O'Brien were nice things.

Never Sure Which Jones It Will Be

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
When the Memphis Pros turn to the Jones boy for help, they know he'll usually come through, but they're never quite sure which one it will be.

Sunday night it was Steve Jones, who scored a team season high 38 points, including a wild underhand layup with two seconds left that gave the Pros a 117-116 American Basketball Association victory over the Utah Stars. James Jones added 20 points and Willie contributed 19. Willie Wise had 32 points and Zelmo Beaty 31 for the losers.

It marked the fifth time this season Steve Jones pulled out last-second triumphs for u Pros. His three-point goal pulled them within one point in the final minutes.

El e, New York beat Carolina 120-112, Indiana whipped Kentucky 137-124 and Denver topped Texas 129-123.

In the NBA, it was Milwaukee 120, Boston 113; Philadelphia 106, San Diego 105 and Baltimore 111, Seattle 96.

New York scored the last eight points of the game after breaking a 112-all tie to down Carolina and moved past the Cougars into third place in the Eastern Division.

Manny Leaks paced the Nets with 29 points and Joe Caldwell was high for the losers with 28. Bob Netolicky hit 16 of 23 floor and five of five from the foul line for 37 points and pulled down 15 rebounds to lead Indiana over Kentucky. Dan Issel had 31 points and Cincy Powell 30 for the Colonels.

Lonnie Wright of Denver came off the bench in the third period and cooled offsmot-shooting rookie Joe Hamilton as the Rockets beat Texas. Hamilton, who totaled 33 points, hit three straight three-pointers in the third period before Wright came on and held him for four points the rest of the way. Larry Cannon led the winners with 28 and Wright had 21.

Saturday night, it was New York 117, Kentucky 116; Virginia 141, Denver 131; Indiana 115, Pittsburgh 107; Floridians 123, Utah 119 and Memphis 114, Texas 112 in overtime.

Presidents and Phones

Not until the Hoover administration in 1929 did a telephone grace the desk of a U.S. president at the White House. The first presidential telephone call, however, was placed in 1877, when President Rutherford B. Hayes and Alexander Graham Bell spoke through 13 miles of wire in Rhode Island.

Milwaukee Lullaby Is Low, Low, Low

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Low, Low, Low ... It's the Milwaukee lullaby. And it's putting everyone to sleep.

The Milwaukee Bucks, led by irrepressible Lew Alcindor's 44 points, whipped the Boston Celtics 120-113 Sunday night for their ninth straight National Basketball Association victory.

The winners overcame a Boston lead and held off a late Celtic charge with Alcindor throwing in the key baskets.

Elsewhere in the NBA, it was Philadelphia 106, San Diego 105 and Baltimore 111, Seattle 96.

In the American Basketball Association, New York whipped Carolina 120-112; Nashville stopped Kentucky 137-124; Denver defeated Texas 129-123 and Memphis spilled Utah 117-116.

In the NBA Saturday night, it was Philadelphia 113, Cleveland 96; Milwaukee 110, Chicago 90; Detroit 121, Boston 118; Atlanta 127, Los Angeles 123; Cincinnati 114, Buffalo 113; Phoenix 117, Baltimore 100 and San Francisco 102, New York 93.

Despite two regulars out of the lineup—John Havlicek and Jo Jo White—Boston had a 60-56 halftime lead over Milwaukee.

But Alcindor spearheaded a 13-point outburst in the fourth quarter that helped Milwaukee into the lead.

The Celts cut the Bucks' advantage to 106-105 and 111-108, but Alcindor baskets got Milwaukee underway again each time and eventually to an unimountable 120-109 lead.

Don Nelson led Boston's scorers with 26 points.

Luke Jackson grabbed a San Diego pass with five seconds left to preserve Philadelphia's victory. Jackson held the Rockets' high-scoring Elvin Hayes to 14 points.

Reserve Fred Carter made one of his few starts a success, scoring 22 points to lead Baltimore. The Bullets held a 50-43 halftime edge and boosted it to 78-64 at the end of the third quarter.

Lennie Wilkens scored 20 points and newcomer Spencer Haywood had 19 for the losers.

Showdown in Southland Conference

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
An early showdown in the Southland Conference basketball race is scheduled in the first league game this week when defending champion Lamar Tech takes on prime contenders Arkansas State.

Lamar Tech, led by G. Adams the SLC's No. 2 scorer with a 21.7 average, travel to Jonesboro, Ark., Saturday in the SLC lif-lifter.

Before that match, the Cardinals play a pair of warm-up games against Northeast Louisiana and Southern Mississippi. Arkansas State gets a week of rest to prepare for the Cards.

Three games are scheduled tonight. In addition to Northeast Louisiana at Lamar Tech, Northern Colorado is at Abilene Christian and Trinity plays the Hawaii Military All-Stars in Honolulu.

Last week was a rough one for SLC teams. They lost nine of 11 games against non-conference opposition. Texas-Arlington defeated Centenary 78-70 and Abilene Christian downed Dallas Baptist 76-67 for the only victories.

Trinity's Felix Thruston is the league's leading scorer through last Saturday's games with a 26.5 average. Adams is next followed by Howard Walker of Trinity with a 21.3 mean.

Lamar Tech is shooting for its fourth SLC basketball title. Arkansas State has won it all twice.

Jim: "How about a few articles on some of the common errors in bidding?"

Oswald: "In the early days of contract perhaps the worst of the common errors was the feeling that because your hand was worth an opening bid, it really cried out for action when an opponent opened the bidding."

Jim: "This error isn't as prevalent now, but it certainly crops up. There are still plenty of players who feel that because they have so many high-card points they must get into the bidding."

Oswald: "Here is one I saw in a rubber bridge game just the other day. South held 15 points in high cards, including the ace and king of both minor suits. He had a good hand and no one was going to keep him from bidding with it."

Jim: "I see that West knew just what to do about that bid. He doubled it and opened the queen of trumps after everyone had passed."

Oswald: "A few moments later East and West had chalked up 1,100 points above the line and South was dealing the next hand."

Jim: "It is interesting to speculate on what might have been if South had realized that he would probably take as many tricks on defense as on attack and just passed. West might have passed also in which case East would struggle with his one-heart contract. He might make it or he might go down. We'll never know. Or West might try a no-trump. East might bid again and East-West might even reach a no-trump game. They probably wouldn't make it, but even if they did their profit would be just 600 points instead of 1,100."

Fayetteville Publisher Heads APA

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Turner Catledge, retired executive editor of the New York Times said Saturday that every institution, including the press, is now subject to skeptical reappraisal.

However, Catledge told the Arkansas Press Association, that one of the greatest contributions of American journalism has been "the concept of objective, unbiased presentation of the news and responsible comment on that news."

The concept of objective journalism is important, Catledge said, adding "the young activists need it more than anyone else."

George Gerhart, publisher of the Northwest Arkansas Times at Fayetteville, was elected president of the association.

Other new officers are: Bill Saddler, Rison, first vice president; Robert Chowning, Magnolia, second vice president; Frank Robins, Conway, third vice president, and Bob Newton, Warren, fourth vice president. Tom Gillespie of Atkins was elected to the board of directors and Robert McCord of the Arkansas Democrat, Little Rock, was re-elected treasurer.

Negroes March in Honor of Dr. King

EARLE, Ark. (AP) — About 75 to 100 persons, mostly Negroes, marched from the Lincoln Street Church of God here Sunday to the Earle City Hall where a prayer vigil was held in honor of Dr. Martin Luther King.

The Rev. Ezra Greer, who organized the march, had estimated that as many as 300 persons would participate in the march.

Police said the marchers walked peacefully to city hall, held the prayer vigil and then went to the mayor's house where the group sang "We Shall Overcome." There was no incident.

Representatives of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference and Black United Youth took part in the march. Earle police and Crittenden County sheriff's officers were scattered along the route of the march but did not interfere with the marchers.

Greer was convicted Jan. 4 in West Memphis Municipal Court on charges of inciting to riot in connection with a disturbance that stemmed from a march he led in Earle in September of last year. He received a one-year suspended sentence and a $500 fine, with $400 of the fine suspended. The September march was to protest conditions at Earle Schools.

Jury Begins Deliberation in Tate Case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The jury that has lived for seven months with the Sharon Tate murder trial begins its second full day of deliberation today amid strict security measures.

Sheriff's deputies planned to search everyone except police and public officials entering the Hall of Justice where the seven-man, five-woman panel is deciding whether Charles Manson and three women codefendants are guilty of first-degree murder and conspiracy. The jury began its deliberations late Friday.

On Saturday deputies even opened a case carried by an 8-year-old girl. It contained a doll and its clothing.

Two sheriff's cars followed the bus bringing jurors from their hotel to the Hall of Justice. No deliberations took place Sunday.

Using 297 pieces of evidence and their notes on nearly six million words of testimony, jurors are examining the case against the 36-year-old Manson, accused of ordering members of his hippie-style family to kill the actress and six others in August 1969.

Susan Atkins and Patricia Krenwinkel, each 22, and Leslie Van Houten, 21, are the other defendants.

Court rules prohibit the jurors from looking at the trial transcript, which is several thousand pages long.

If the jury returns a first-degree murder verdict, the same

School Issue Taken Up by High Court

By BARRY SCHWEID

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today took up the problem of school boards unable to raise money for new schools even though they have the support of a majority of the voters.

As highlighted in a test case from West Virginia, the problem is a state provision that new school taxes and bonds must be approved by a "super-majority"—by more than half the people voting on them.

Taxes and bonds worth many millions of dollars hang in the balance in West Virginia and in other states. The court is delaying a judgment on similar requirements in California, Idaho, and Missouri until it decides the case from Roane County, W.Va.

Six times over the last few years propositions to issue bonds and raise taxes for schools in the county were put to the voters and approved by at least 50 per cent. All the propositions failed, however, because West Virginia's Constitution requires a 60 per cent majority.

Relying on a string of "one-man, one-vote" Supreme Court decisions, a group of Roane County voters claimed the provision was unconstitutional, saying it gives more weight to the vote of opponents than it does to the vote of people favoring the new bonds and taxes.

In July 1969, the West Virginia supreme court of appeals agreed. This evidently was the first decision anywhere extending the one-man, one-vote principle to require simple majority approval of bond and tax issues.

Another group of voters appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court and the case was granted review last April. A decision is expected by June.

In an advance brief, Charles C. Wise and J. Henry Francis Jr., both Charleston lawyers, attacked the provision, stressing the frustrations of a majority of Roane County voters in efforts to improve their schools.

Monday, January 18, 1971

Over the last 20 years, they said, the county educational system has deteriorated until it ranks among the lowest in the state.

The direct reason, the lawyers said, is a lack of revenue—money a majority of the voters are willing to raise.

On the other side, attorney George M. Scott of Spencer, W.Va., emphasized that no one is unconstitutionally barred from voting. As long as everyone can vote, he said in his brief, the "one-man, one-vote" rule is being observed.
